

ABSTRACT

A torque computation unit of a vehicle generator includes a rotor, an armature winding, a field coil and a field current switching element.

- 5 The torque computation unit includes a field current detecting circuit, an output current detecting circuit and a rotation speed detecting circuit, a torque calculation circuit for calculating driving torque of the generator from the field current, the output current and the rotation speed.